Semifinalists Announced for 2019 Herbie Hancock Institute of Jazz International Guitar Competition, December 2-3 in Washington, D.C.

Competition Festivities Include All-Star Gala Concert Honoring Renowned Trumpeter/Composer Terence Blanchard

Washington, D.C. —Twelve outstanding young jazz guitarists from around the world have been selected to compete in the 2019 Herbie Hancock Institute of Jazz International Guitar Competition on December 2-3 in Washington, D.C.

The semifinalists are: Cecil Alexander of Muskegon, Michigan; Joseph Bell of Princeton, New Jersey; Will Brahm of Portland, Oregon; François Chanvallon of Paris, France; Lucian Gray of Toronto, Canada; Max Light of Bethesda, Maryland; Armen Movsesyan of Los Angeles, California; Evgeny Poboziy of Seversk, Russia; Matt Sewell of St. Louis, Missouri; Juan Vidaurre of Caracas, Venezuela; Tal Yahalom of Jerusalem, Israel; and Francesco Zampini of Rome, Italy.

These aspiring jazz musicians will compete in the Semifinals round, taking place on Monday, December 2nd, from 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of the American Indian. The semifinalists will perform before an all-star judging panel of internationally acclaimed jazz guitarists: Stanley Jordan, Lionel Loueke, Russell Malone, Pat Metheny, Chico Pinheiro, Lee Ritenour and John Scofield. Each semifinalist will perform for 15 minutes accompanied by a stellar rhythm section featuring pianist Reggie Thomas, bassist Yasushi Nakamura, and drummer Carl Allen.

From this group, the judges will select three finalists to perform in the Competition Finals at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts on Tuesday evening, December 3rd. At stake is more than $150,000 in scholarships and prizes, including a $30,000 first place scholarship and guaranteed recording contract with Concord Music Group; a $15,000 second place scholarship; and a $10,000 third place scholarship. The evening will culminate with an All-Star Gala Concert featuring performances by Herbie Hancock, Dee Dee Bridgewater, Bobby Watson and many other jazz greats. The Institute will present its Maria Fisher Founder's Award to multi-GRAMMY Award-winning trumpeter, composer and educator Terence Blanchard. Many of his former Institute students, including recording artists Gretchen Parlato, Walter Smith III, Dayna Stephens and others leading the next generation of major jazz artists, will take the stage to pay tribute to Blanchard.

Proceeds from the Herbie Hancock Institute of Jazz International Guitar Competition and All-Star Gala Concert will support the Institute's public school education programs in Washington D.C., Chicago, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, New Orleans, Newark, San Francisco and the Mississippi Delta.

Cecil Alexander, of Muskegon, Michigan, is a graduate of the Berklee College of Music and William Paterson University. He co-founded the group Visen in 2016 with fellow Berklee graduate Ari Jaye Alexander, and the group released its first EP, Shoulder Deep, in 2017. A winner of the 2017 Wilson Center Jazz Guitar Competition and the 2018 Lee Ritenour Six String Theory Competition in the Jazz category, Alexander counts Peter Bernstein, Kurt Rosenwinkel and Jesse Van Ruller among his key influences. He has performed or recorded with artists such as Nathan East, Luis Perdomo, James Weidman and Pat Bianchi, to name a few.

Joseph Bell is a Princeton, New Jersey native who is currently completing his final year in the Columbia-Juilliard Exchange Program in New York. When not pursuing his bachelor's in biology or working as a research assistant at Columbia Medical Center, Bell is an active performer, appearing with artists including Andra Day, Macy Gray, Eric Harland, Wynton Marsalis and Bob Mintzer. He has served as a featured guitarist on three full-length albums and counts top venues like the Blue Note, Dizzy's Club Coca-Cola, the Kennedy Center and Birdland among his performance credits.

Will Brahm, of Portland, Oregon, received his Bachelor of Music in Jazz Guitar Studies from California State University Long Beach, where he was a five-time recipient of the school's KJazz scholarship. He has performed and recorded with artists such as Sara Gazarek, Jane Monheit, Gretchen Parlato, Kim Richmond and Arturo Sandoval, and has appeared on tour at venues across the United States and in Malaysia, the Philippines, Spain and Turkey. Brahm's recent recorded output includes a duet album, Will Brahm & Lia Booth, in 2018 and the 2019 release Venture Atlas.

HERBIE HANCOCK INSTITUTE OF JAZZ

François Chanvallon, of Paris, France, began his musical training at age 10. After attending the IMEP Paris College of Music, he earned a Bachelor of Music with honors from the Berklee College of Music. He has studied privately with Darren Barrett, Mick Goodrick, Rick Peckham, Jaleel Shaw and Miguel Zenon, among others. Currently a master's degree candidate at the Manhattan School of Music, Chanvallon has worked with artists including Chris Cheek, Gary Burton and Kurt Elling, and was a 2019 finalist in the 7 Virtual Jazz Club Competition. He appears on Darren Barrett's recent release The EVI Sessions.

Lucian Gray, of Toronto, Canada, attended the Berklee College of Music on the prestigious Slight Family Scholarship, studying with George Garzone, Mick Goodrick, Greg Osby, Dave Santoro and Mark Whitfield. He has appeared alongside notable musicians such as Guido Basso, Il Divo, Molly Johnson and Neil Swainson, among others, and has performed at prominent festivals throughout Canada including the TD Toronto Jazz Festival, the Beaches Jazz Fest and the Calgary Jazz Festival. Gray is currently Head of Jazz Studies at Discovery Through the Arts, a nonprofit music school in Toronto, and also plays the piano and upright and electric bass.

Max Light, of Bethesda, Maryland, received his Bachelor of Music in Jazz Performance degree from New England Conservatory and a Master of Music in Jazz Performance from the Aaron Copland School at Queens College. He has performed and recorded with Donny McCaslin, Jason Palmer, Noah Preminger, Walter Smith III and Tia Fuller, and appeared at the DC Jazz Festival, New York's Winter Jazz Festival, Monterey Next Generation Jazz Festival and Mid-Atlantic Jazz Festival. Light is also an accomplished educator, with credits as an instructor at Queens Music Academy and the Washington, D.C.-based Jazz Academy of Music.

Armen Movsesyan, was born in Sochi, Russia and grew up in Los Angeles. He began studying classical piano at the age of six and picked up the guitar at 15. Movsesyan went on to receive a Bachelor of Music in Studio & Jazz Guitar from the University of Southern California and a Master of Music in Jazz Studies from the University of North Texas. His group Ararat, which combines rock and jazz influences with traditional Armenian folk music, released its debut album in 2016, with a second album planned for summer 2020. An active educator, Movsesyan is the author of the method book Perfect Picking.

Evgeny Pobozhiy was born in Seversk, Russia, beginning classical guitar studies at age nine and later studying jazz at the Rostov State Conservatory in Rostov-on-Don. After completing his studies, he received an invitation from Igor Butman to join the renowned saxophonist's Quintet, and the Moscow Jazz Orchestra. Pobozhiy has since performed on stages including the Montreal Jazz Festival, Rochester Jazz Festival, Moscow's Triumph of Jazz Festival and the International Jazz Day All-Star Global Concert in Saint Petersburg. He maintains his own quintet, which combines elements of jazz, funk, hip-hop and modern classical music.

Herbie Hancock Institute of Jazz International Competition

Formerly the Thelonious Monk Institute of Jazz International Competition, the Hancock Institute Competition is recognized as the world's most prestigious jazz competition and for discovering the next generation of jazz masters. Each year, major scholarships and prizes including recording contracts are awarded to the talented young musicians participating in the Competition. The scholarships help pay tuition for college-level jazz education studies and provide funds for private, specialized instruction.

Since 1987, the Competition has launched the careers of a number of major jazz artists including saxophonist Joshua Redman; vocalists Cécile McLorin Salvant, Jane Monheit and Jazzmeia Horn; pianists Marcus Roberts and Kris Bowers; bassist Ben Williams; and trumpeter Ambrose Akinmusire, among others. These artists and dozens more from past competitions have forged successful careers as performing and recording artists, as well as music educators helping to perpetuate America's legacy of jazz. Past judges have included Quincy Jones, Diana Krall, Branford Marsalis, Christian McBride, Arturo Sandoval, Dianne Reeves, Slide Hampton, Roy Haynes and many others.
